

1. Any home baked goodies(they stay surprisingly fresh)
2. DVD's of any recent movies or current popular TV Shows ... especially comedies.
3. Cleaning wipes, swifter wet jet pads, deodorant, good razors,
4. Flavor ICE, specialty nuts, gourmet carmel corn/popcorn, salty snack foods, anything you can't get at a Tiger Mart ha ha!
5. They are REALLY into GUITAR HERO, it is pretty hilarious actually, they have a collection of cowboy hats that they put on when they form "the band"
6. Folks are from OK, SC, TX so any kind of OU,UT, type stuff is awesome.
- 7.Therma care heating patch for neck/shoulders for the older :-)
8. Holiday decorations small or big they love, it helps remind us what month it is!!
9. The young ones LOVE junk food the older LOVE CIGARS.
10. Girls love anything that reminds them they are a girl... soft fuzzy anything.... we have plenty of lotions but soaps are good, and room spray. We can't burn candles unfortunately. Even Make-up samples are great
11. I have seen plastic wall coverings with scenes in some rooms.
12. magazines, music, we already have lots of books

Winter is coming and it gets really cold but the trailers are far from airtight. So a few more wish list thoughts...

- 1.window insulating kits where you cover the window with plastic and tape around it to keep the draft from coming in. He also said there was some rubber adhesive stuff to go around the doors. It sounds crazy but that is stuff you can't get here
- 2.Double sided tape or fun tack that you can use to hang pictures or posters on the walls without nails. We try to protect the finish on the beautiful wood paneling. :-)
